Mr. Gonzalez

I just wanted to say thank you for the contractors course you offer. The material was just what I needed to be prepared for the general contractors exam. I passed the test my first try, but I can't say that it was easy. In fact, the test was very tough and I used up most of the time allowed to get through it. I can say that at least the information I needed I had covered either in the study guides or during the seminars you offered.

I talked with several people at the testing site and found that those who used other services, either paid too much for the course or didn't receive the attention and material they needed to get through the test. One fellow I meet had come in from Texas. He had used a correspondence service and had taken one class. He told me he had spent a total of $5,000.00 dollars on the cost of his material, travel expenses, and applications fees. When the 2 days of testing were over, he didn't make it.

The test is tough, and if I had not allowed myself enough time to really study the material with the tapes and work the study questions, I probably would not have made it either. My suggestion to those taking the course is do not try to take the test until you feel ready. What every you plan to do, you have made the right choice with Contractors Exam School. They can help you be as ready as you can be.

Thanks
